ABOUT ME

As a recent M.C.A graduate, I am enthusiastic about launching my career in the dynamic coding and IT field, fueled by a genuine passion for technology and innovation. During my academic journey, I have built a solid foundation in a range of programming languages, data structures, and software development methodologies. I am committed to continuous learning and skill development with a keen desire to apply my knowledge in practical settings. I hope to contribute meaningfully to the technological growth of an organization, using my skills to drive innovation and achieve impaction results.
